⚡ PRIMARY CATALYST — THE REASON IT MOVES NOW

A ₹2,278.96 cr (US$238.76m) blanket international purchase order won 14 May 2026 roughly doubles MTAR's order book to ~₹4,800 cr (~5.5× FY26 sales of ₹876 cr), locking in 36-48 months of revenue visibility — but after a +337% one-year run to a 52W high of ₹8,450, most of that growth is already in the price at ~226× TTM earnings.

Order Win (export / blanket PO)	+₹2,279 cr backlog; underpins FY27 revenue-growth guide of ~80% (~₹1,575 cr)	H — confirmed exchange filing	Filed 14 May 2026; execution timing "to be decided"

Priced in? Largely. Stock spiked to an all-time high ₹8,450 (22 May) on the news and trades at ~226× TTM P/E — backlog tripling and the FY27 hyper-growth story are reflected; what is NOT in the price is proof that the order book converts to PAT (FY26 net profit was only ₹95 cr). · Source: BSE/NSE filing & Business Standard, 14 May 2026

The fundamental story (record ~₹4,800 cr backlog, 80% FY27 revenue-growth guide, clean-energy + data-centre fuel-cell optionality) is genuinely strong — but the chart has already discounted it: at ~226× earnings, just off a 52W high after a +337% run, there is no margin of safety for a fresh swing entry. The edge now is in waiting for a pullback, not chasing.

WHAT THE STREET IS PRICING IN

Thin formal coverage (~4 analysts) with a consensus Strong Buy; average 12-mo target ≈ ₹7,358 (≈ CMP) with a very wide range ₹3,650–₹10,007 — dispersion that signals low conviction on where it settles. IN the price: order-book tripling, the ~80% FY27 revenue-growth narrative, and clean-energy / data-centre fuel-cell optionality. NOT yet in the price: hard proof that the backlog converts to profit at the guided pace — FY26 PAT was just ₹95 cr against a ₹21,745 cr market cap. (A circulating ₹2,220 "2026 target" is stale — pre-rally — and should be discarded.)

KEY LEVELS & TRADE FRAME

Entry zone	₹6,400–6,700 (on pullback)
Stop (below breakout base / ~50-DMA, approx)	₹5,900
Target 1 / Target 2	₹7,800 / ₹8,450
R:R · suggested size	~1:1.5 at pullback · ≤2% capital (high-vol)

Levels are approximate — no live DMA feed; verify on chart. Chasing at CMP ₹7,216 (just below ATH) offers poor R:R; the frame assumes a wait-for-pullback entry.

AVOID

Strong business, stretched entry. The catalyst is real and confirmed, but a +337% run to ~226× earnings means the news is in the price — no swing edge buying here. Wait for a pullback into ₹6,400–6,700 or for earnings to validate the multiple. Flips the call: Q1 FY27 (≈Aug) showing margin/PAT actually catching up to the topline guide — that converts AVOID into a BUY-on-strength; conversely a healthy pullback to support with backlog intact flips it to TACTICAL LONG.
